

The index for other safety and training articles can be found at http://www.50k-or-bust.com/PG Safety And Training Articles.htm

GASCo Safety Evenings

GASCo, the General Aviation Safety Council, exists to promote safety in non-commercial aviation in the UK including paragliding, hang-gliding, etc.

Amongst other activities they present safety evenings covering subjects like "Human Performance and Limitations", "Conflict" and "Loss of Control", very relevant to our disciplines even though some points of their presentation apply principally to "normal" light aviation.

These safety evenings are held in venues all over the country and are free to attend. Details can be found at:

<http://www.gasco.org.uk/safety-evenings.aspx>

I urge all pilots to attend one of these evenings which provide a strong insight into keeping ourselves safe in the air. Clubs can also request GASCo to do a safety evening at their local venues.

© Copyright Nigel Page - November 2015 - www.50k-or-bust.com